Dear parents, pupils, governors, staff and parishioners,

Wow what a busy week it has been! Anti – bullying week; Year 5/6 being our first class to go out on a school trip since COVID and then them enjoying an Anglo Saxon experience day today and also - a visit from Ofsted!

As you are all aware, we had our overdue Ofsted inspection on Tuesday after receiving the call on Monday. Although I am not allowed to give any details of the final report yet until it is published, I am allowed to express how unbelievably proud I am of every single member of staff, every child and our wonderful Governors. Tuesday was a real opportunity to tell the story of our little school and I believe we did that and most importantly, we did it as one big team. I would like to say a huge thank you to you - our parent community - for filling in the questionnaires online and for the parents that spoke to the inspector on the gate in the morning, but also for the love and support we felt on the day.

I absolutely adore this school and have the deepest pride being Headteacher here. This week (just as any other) instilled that awe I have of my team and our school community even more! I am looking forward to sharing our report with you as soon as it has been published; which we are hoping will be before Christmas.

Year 5/6

Our Year 5/6 class have had an exciting week with a trip to St Chad's cathedral and an Anglo Saxon experience day. Yesterday they had the opportunity to visit the cathedral, which is the Mother Church of the Arch

Diocese of Birmingham. The children had a great day learning about the Cathedral and its vast history.

Today we would like to say thank you to Verity for coming in to bring the children's Anglo Saxon topic to life.

The children particularly enjoyed making their own jewellery.

PTA Reminders for next week

We are really looking forward to our Christmas Market next Friday. I know the PTA are working incredibly hard to make it a wonderful event.

Wednesday is a non-uniform day so children can bring in bottles or chocolates please to go towards the market.

School Lottery

Congratulations to Mrs H, last week's winner!
